

YEAR 11 MOCK REVISION

TERM 1 & 2 2026

St Laurence School
Care • Inspire • Succeed

Contents page

Use the suggested revision work for each subject below to help you plan your revision for this autumn's mock exams. On Bromcom you will also find a revision timetable to help you organise your time. An electronic one can be found from The Student Room. Our guidance is that you spend approximately four hours revising per day on non-school days and use the Three R's of Revision as a system to help you work through your content. Whilst attending school, you should also be spending 1 to 2 hours per night preparing for your exams.

Each subject below is hyperlinked so just click on each subject to get started...

Any work you do between now and the end of Year 11 will help you with preparation for your GCSEs and help you achieve the best grades possible and give you more options for post-16 education. It is important that you make every lesson count to be the best person you can be.

Good luck and happy revising! ☺

The Three R's of Revision

The Three R's of Revision is a cycle that you should aim to repeat as part of your revision process. Start by refining what you do and do not know, spend time revising it, then review the extent to which you have learnt the information. Then begin again.

The Three Rs of Revision

Study Skills

In order for revision to be successful, you must try to make information “stick” in your minds. To do this, you must revisit the same information lots of times. If you do not, you will forget it. As the graph shows, each time you learn something, you will forget less and less. This means that over time and with repeating revision activities, you will be able to commit more learning to your long-term memory. Therefore, try to follow the Three R's of Revision

Use the model of spaced learning given here to help you commit more learning to your long-term memory.

To learn your content more effectively, try to use the strategies below to help you. These will not work for everyone, but all of them encourage you to retrieve learning from your mind and by doing so, help your memory to become much stronger.

Generally high-effectiveness activities: when used correctly, these are highly effective ways to learn information

Exam board	Edexcel AQA
Topics covered in your mock exam(s)	Theme: Surfaces and Textures
Revision activities
	Take 12-16 good quality photographs, consider the lighting and your composition carefully. These images will be the main basis which will form your final piece, so make them relevant to the theme you have chosen. These should not be just reprints from the start of the project but photographs that are new and will inform your final piece and link to your artist. Ideally you could edit these by cropping them or using filters.	20 minutes + 30 minutes Editing
	Sketch out 4 different compositions for your final piece (using your photos and artist influence). These should be approx. A5 and just loose sketches that show that you have thought about different ideas of a final outcome, relating to your theme and the artist influence too. Consider the aesthetic quality of your ideas and layout, size and scale as well as materials you may use.	15 minutes per composition
	Choose your final idea, then refine your sketch, press harder and add some basic tone or colour. Annotate what materials you intend to use, and how you will add each layer and why.	1 hour
	Over a double page trial out the materials based on your composition for your final piece. Think about your use of colour, your application of materials, the style and techniques you wish to use, all of this should link to your artist and your artist. Annotate WWW and EBI	2-3 hours

English Language

Exam board	Eduqas
Topics covered in your mock exam(s)	You will sit a full Eduqas English Language Component 1 'Reading Literature and Creative Prose Writing' paper from a past exam series. This paper is comprised of a Section A and Section B and lasts for 1 hour 45 minutes. Section A: 1 hour (15 minutes reading, 45 minutes writing) 5 questions that ask you to analyse and explore effects created in an extract from a piece of literature. You will have covered these question types in your lessons and can review them using the GCSE Pod links below. Section B: 45 minutes Choose from 4 titles and write a short piece of creative prose.
Revision activities
	Section A: Reading - Review the approaches to each question using the examples you have in your Language component 1 book. - Read back over past papers you have completed in lessons and any feedback you have received on practice responses.
	Section B: Creative Prose Writing - Read back over the stories you have worked on in Years 10 and 11 so far. - Revise story plans and characters that you have developed in lessons / for homework – you may wish to adapt these and use them again in the exam.

English Literature

Exam board	Eduqas
Topics covered in your mock exam(s)	- Macbeth by William Shakespeare - One question on an extract from Macbeth (20 mins) - One question on the whole play* Macbeth (40 mins) * students will not have studied the entire play by the time they sit the mock exam, but the question will allow them to answer on the parts of the play they have studied
Revision activities	Re-read key scenes from the play: there is no substitute for good textual knowledge. You may prefer to listen to parts of the play being performed as you follow along, so go to Macbeth - Radio 3 - Media Streaming - Powered by Planet eStream (st-laurence.com).
	Make sure you know where key characters of Macbeth, Lady Macbeth and Banquo, and the witches appear in the play so far, and how Shakespeare presents them. The notes you have in your Literature component 1 book will be invaluable here. You should aim to note down 3-5 examples for each character, including how they change as the play goes on. Make sure that you remember key quotations from the play as part of this – at least 10 for both Macbeth and Lady Macbeth, perhaps 5-10 for Banquo and the witches.
	Use this link on BBC Bitesize to make notes (maybe spidergrams) on the major themes in the play so far Macbeth - Themes overview - Themes - AQA - GCSE English Literature Revision - AQA - BBC Bitesize (please note that although this is focused on the AQA exam, the content is relevant for our exam board). Make sure that you include key quotations from the play as part of this.
Relevant links	Shmoop Macbeth Study Guide - Macbeth Introduction Shmoop SparkNotes Macbeth: Study Guide SparkNotes Mr Bruff William Shakespeare's 'Macbeth' - Detailed Analysis - YouTube (please note that these videos are focused on AQA exams, but the content is still relevant; if he refers to context in the Macbeth exam, this is not examined in the Macbeth questions in our exam board) Some students have a York Notes revision guide on Macbeth that is especially helpful in revising plot, character, theme; these are available to borrow from the ILC, though we do recommend parents-carers buy one for students.
